The sudden release from appression which he experiencies when he steps on our aboves causes a fervent revival of Telitic Ideas in state, church and sobiety. The removal of external pressure, which has kept him down for centurine, causes as arisent spirits to be hooyed up paidenly into extraordinary activity or (fellic lhought and cellse institutions. This sudden activity is only apheneral in at nature, and will not ast beyond a few generations. The bulk of Cellic immingation remains in our clowered ceners of population to share the fate of all urban populations, which are constantly drawn to archibilation through these vortices. The remainder, so far as it is distributed through town, village and county, will undergo a fusion with the stronger and more numerous eithnic elements around it, and help to form a new funton, essentially Teutonic in character and structure, but endowed with certain lighted and to the pleasing graces, due to the infusion of feithe blood into the veins of the Teuton.

with the iterated population and the compatively small demand for any one thing, there is no inducement for our wealth; men to establish man inactations except on a very small scale so small that they would not contribute largely to the prosperity of our city, though it must be force in mind that every little helps, and that from small buildings all our large institutious have sprung to have an blea that all that is necessary to econtre presently and achieve greatness is for Portland Cap tails to invest their mone; in miniatricity—

I am not one of those people who believe that Fortland is destined to be a great city and that if it is done she will—from natural position, surroundings etc—achieve her own greatness. Slie his always been overestimated, and probability a ways will be ask the average citizen of tu-day low large as her population, its will confidently assure you that it is 40 000, which is fully 11,00 timer than actual count.

A strateger coming here is nonplussed with the large number claimed and the comparatively small number seen on the streets. Not being a mannifacturing city there cannot be a large population employed indoors hence the show big outside should be much greater than it is, if the city contains the large population (alumed.

All inspection of business bouses, shops and streets, of the city will convince an unprejudiced observer that the population is largely over estimated, and a tour through the country will also convince bim that the population of the state, though steadily increasing, has not here so large as has been generally claimed. This quest on of population, is the one to be first echystered in relation to manufactures. If there is a demand for all the doontry has not the necessary population to consurte the product, the manufactory cannot be sold at a fair profit, then there will be prosperity for all concerned but if the demand is limited, and balf the year is spent in dileness, there can be no profit to the investor, and the chances for a loss would at least be even.

A manufactory, to be successful and be able to compute with the product of the outside world, has got to be run on business principles, it cannot run a week, and then shut down for a week. Skillful labor must be employed, and the artise can usually be purchased on more favoral e terms when procured in large quantities, but will not on the same profits of an indefinite period, eft er be that was superior to that of any of their of temporaries in western Euro so. The development of the Teuton, with slight temporary interruptions, has been at a steady pace, initiable to a divincation which he has evolved from his innermost nature. The growth of Celific civi teation, on the other hand, was sine ed and completely arrested in early youth by foreign conquest. The two moes, so radically different in social instincts, political ideas and religious bias, meet and mingle on this conflict. Numerically they stand about as four to one, and as to moral and insellectual force the discreparcy is even greater. The Celt has lost his native tongue, and that of itself precludes him from forming destinct feutic communities. He disappears by absorption into the greater Teutonic body. Correspondence of The Sunday Overconian

LONDON, Jan. 23.—"A compiracy mais ained with foreign money" and "streason organized and supported in America" are comments that are beginning to crop up onto more in conver-sation and in letters and editorials that appear sation and in letters and edilorials that koppear in the press. There are main things said and done by the Parnellites in America which are cabled to England of which the United States knows little or nothing. "If we permuted in England what you allow in 'America," writes a correspondent to me, "what would you do?" So many of my correspondents believe I am an American that I sometimes that wonder wristher. I am or not, and if not, why not all that during the war of north and scuth—that has been sympathised with the rebels who tried to dismember the Union." Of rourse the cases are not parallel, and higher heads and folly of a socion of her propale, who, with this distinct a their had, were willing to betwee that the South had carried the right to be acknowledged as a nation. But just as the South hoped to get the assestance of lingiand in their war with the North, so a large population in Ireland hope to et list the active aid of the United States in breaking up the Angel-Irish union. What sensitive Raglieli politicians and statesmen complain of ultready is that an agitation, in fortered encouraged and applicated by American organizations, in An erican cities, and supported in American newspapers. Some time before General Citact, died, I had the honor of falling to him on the subject of the Irish question from an Angelo-American point of view, American ode what she did not attempt to her i wu land. "There is as much so-called treasons of citact in England and as many rebeillous means of England as here why don't England begin her work of pulbound to interfere." This still seems to me to be the essence of the situation, so far as England and America are concerned. Genil crant was a practically wise man. He did not by to convert a simple thought into a speech, at clean square indiguient into a judicial argument. The trouble about legislative business here is the talk about it. Action comes at the last undment mestead of the first. If five-years ago the English Parlament had given Ireland what she is ready to give her now, local self-government by comby or other heard under Irish officials, Ireland would have been as presperous to-day as the is now poor, as contented, probably, as she is rebelicous. "All men are wise after the estent." Mr thadstone is generally blanned for the "awful pass" to which Irish affairs have advanced. Perhaps this is why he is now ready and willing to accept the Herculcan task of solvin; the Irish problem.

MR. RESKIN AND FREE TRADE.

ER BUSKIN AND FREE TRADE.

We are having an unusually bitter wints and there is terrible distress in most of our industrial centure. No sooner has one heavy snow melted than another fails. While I write, London, having at last got rid of the snow blocks of the last two weeks, is once more a white world. The parks, squares and suburbs are puttines of the last two weeks, is once more a white world. The parks, squares and suburbs are puttines of the last two weeks, is once more a white world. The parks, squares and suburbs are puttines of winter that recail pictures of "fold English winters," but all this means to the poor an awful increase of enfering I have needer known the London streets so full of beggars as they are now I never received so many appeals by letter and otherwise for help. The trade of the country grees from bad to worse I in Sunderland families of working people are suffering the punch of want even to starvation. Pverywhere men are working at lower wages than they have made for years, and while all around our export trade is decreasing in volume and in value, that of Germing, Belgium, I rance, America, are increasing. Our from trade, manufactured and unmanufactured, is shrinking, our farmers are being runned, land is going down in price mouth by month and urt by year, and the outlook has no gleam of light in it. A great deal of this frouble could be corrected by a moderate remain of the tariff and a taxation of invuries from abroad by the free trade is a British fetich so dear to the matter. Mr. Briekin has recently been quoted as a staunch free trader, upon which Venive Fair (over a society papers are beginning to discuss fiscal questions) huns up the following extracti from littshir's opinions in "Unto This Lasty".

Let other nations if they like, keep their ports shut every wise nation will throw its own open. It is not the opening them, but a sudden incern at each wind binned the perimental manner of opening them what does harm. THE MANIFESTO OF RIOL

The "anti Chinese congress" has been had I Notice is given that the Chinese must depart from Portland within forty days. This means nothing The Chinese will go or stay, as they think fit. Within that time they will not all go, nor nearly all for, apart from any question of choice on their side, it is a physical impossibility. And since they will not be gene in forty days, then what? Those who are here will be protected, of course. They will not be maltreated, looked, ejected from the thereon. houses, expelled from the city or murdare.
The decree of the "congress" then is mere val
por But there may be an attempt to enforce the decree, since there are many foolish men in the world in which case a sharp and salutary tragical in He purport, is siere fustian and bom best. Now a word as to the resolution to "boy cetter THE ORREONIAN This resolution was dant speech. Let The Obegonian tell this fe low and his backers that it can't be boycotted to the injury or less, by their atmost efforts. "We, the people of Oregon and Washington territory," indeed! THE () RECONIAN does not depend for its business upon the vile, victors, riotous and criminal classes. Forevermore be it far from it make "amende and apology" to such Nor It knows the henorable, discriminating and law all ding people of Oregon and Washington too well to fear the result of an appeal to them. It splits contempt upon Boycotters and richers, de-fes their prononcumento, and appeals to the people, between whom and a spirit of insane malignity and rich it stands and will sept shand as a barrier. It takes the brunt of this brutal

And now, since the beyeott is to be the order of the day, THE OREGONIAN will have some thing in its turn to say, at proper times, to the thing in its turn to say, at proper times, to the people of Oregon and Washington, and to the business men of Portland, about giving their support to the organs of disorder and not. They will see at once the necessity, so long as this menace to the public peace and to the course of business, which has been arrested by the state of the course of business, which has been arrested by the state of the continued to withdraw and threats of riot, is continued, to withdraw and mente public disorder, or refuse to take ground against it. The Oursoonlay, let us on, is able to take care of itself, and claims no reward for performance of duty in support of order and law. But it ears also, that pournals which do not support order and law, and which re alve commendation from the spirit of sedition and riot, ought to have no countenance or support from law-abiding men

It is apparent to the close observer that the so called Chinese question is only an incident of a general situation. The real basis of the dis-urbed condition of affairs on our Pacific store have accumulated here in numbers since the railroad era began, and in a crude philosophy rantosa em negan, and in a trade parisas, which tree to express itself in the various enter-words of "socialism". The Chinaman is a mere scape-goal. Those who are too improvident, too little disposed to independent effort, or the much addicted to indolence and its vices (to take care of themselves want to be provided for and taken care of and they have some kind of vague idea that they can force society or govern-ment to do it. The disturbance at I aget sound is based far more broadly on this doctr he than on any simple desire to get rid of the Thmess So likewise is the discontent here. The cusade upon the (biness is only what may be called a "eurface indication" of a despar in evenent. It is a sign of the presence of conditions among us which, throughout the course of history, have produced suchilistic mearrections bould all the Chinese depart from among us the material conducton of those who are make ing this attack upon them would not be materially changed. For these people, as a rule would not betake themselves to the employments in which the Chinese are engaged. Would they, for example, go to gardening on their own account and supply this city with their own account and supply s leed, willing to work, in a fittal way, but the majority will not engage in steady occase that look to distant results. They are shoresful men must always do, the habor of a Histaine to the creation of a business. This doesn't suit them. They will not originate, persevere and wait. Then thought alou work is to hire for wages, get their pay daily or weekly, ker off when it pleases them, change places and employments as the desirator gives it may august and to a conaccessful men must always do, the labor velty may suggest, and to go on to year with he row The money they make they spend freely, particularly in the beer shops and at idle amusepartignarry in the need supporting a total amount ments, and seldom have even a small accommula-tion. Then when work can not be bad and waged fall even for a short time, destitution ensures. A such times, in their judgu ent sol-ety is organized a ratest them

Now the majority of these men never did norwas and never will pursue with patient mainth sus and never will busine with plantar that the the steady occupations in which the C) who am-gage But along comes the blatch, agitator and demagague, telling them that the Coin i man is the one great cause of their destitition man is the one great and is a furious of the and Histories. THE JOURNEY TO THE GRAVE, The Brave Souther at Rest near his Boybood's Home -The Bites Ended with Three Salves Over the Tomb.

New York, Feb. 18.—Governor's Eland was visited by a raging storm last right, and being banked with fog was apparently as isolated this morning as a rock in mid ocean. The rearing of the steam whilstee and ocean that dislate fog of the steam whistes and occasional distant for belies were the only evidences of the manness to the great city. The military colony was add at an early hour. The little steamer Atlantic, which durit to and for between the battery and the pier on the island, brought dwe loads of officers in uniforms and citizons in dripping overcoats. The privates who were passing along the brick walkin front of beacquarters, looked disconsolate enough in their wet uniforms. They evening everyhody upon the island was allowed to enter the patient in which Gen. Handock's body lay, and take a larswell look at the dead countenance. For nearly an hour officers, privates, servants and messengers filed by the soffin. Many eyes were alled with there at the scieme speciacle.

This moreting for, Janeway reported that Mrs. Hancock had pussed a restless night, but seemed better at daybreak. Between and 8 o'ctock the Guards of Honor drew up in front of the honse. Then came a detachment of 200 soldiers from the forts and drew up behind them. In the nearting the widew, arcompanied by Mrs. Lieut, Griswold only Miss Bouv er, entered the room in which the hero lay and took a parting look at his fare. Mrs. Hancock's grief was pittigl. She lissed his forebend, while the tears fell fast from her overflowing eyes. Then she sank into nichair and would have fall on to the floor had not kindly hands come to her assistance. The coolin lid was then put he its place, and the knorel wreath brought to the old, the place, and the knorel wreath brought to the old, they the Philindelphia division of the Loyal Lingiou was laid upon it. GERNAN POLITICS.

An Interesting Budget of Years and Conjectace from Borlin, from Bortia.

Beslin, Feb. 18.—The question whether the reichstag will pass a bill prolonging the operations of the anti-ecclaist law five years, which was adopted by the bundeparth, is one of the main topics under discussion here. The premable to the bill recites that if the law has not prevented some attempts at cutrage, it has nevertheless ameliorated the situation since 15% when the pressure went into force.

provided some dicinguists collected with since 1877, when the measure wout into force.

The attitude of the purities in the draichsing toward the hill is nucertain. The members of the certer are opposed to the measure on principle, and if they remain individed rejection or modification of the bill is cortain. It is estimated that if necessary thirty chroials will vote will a condition of conservatives and national literals, to cantie the bill to press. There are no run planner of division in the renter, but the government hopes that news of he reason floring in Landon will have great influence, as well as the fears of the center, that Prince Bis units, if the Till should be distance, would trake I softent a preferation dissolve the reichstag.
